The sound of longing. Long shadows and cool winter wind in Gartnergade, Copenhagen. Sunbleached campus, sealions and the pacific ocean in La Jolla

Green Pitch's new album is the unlikely musical meeting between Copenhagen and Southern California. Between everyday life, dreams and hope. The title is "La Jolla". It is an unusually beautiful, inventive and inspired album.

Listen to it, and let it unfold in its magnificent, kaleidoscopic, slowmotion beauty.

La Jolla is recorded by Ste Rasch who has captured his and his wife Rex Garfields soulful playing in the apartments in Gartnergade, Copenhagen and California with much care. The finished recordings were sent to Cambridge Massachusett, where the master of production Paul Q. Kolderie (Radiohead, The Cure, Pixies) cooperating with the musician Chris Brokoaw (Codein, Thurston Moore, The New Year) mixed them in the most beautiful way.

Besides Rex and Ste there is a number of musical friends appearing on the album. The sound is more electric and more experiemental compared to what Green Pitch has presented before. The instrumentation is rich and varied, and the music is hard to pin down.

Green Pitch got an international career after the debut album "Ace of Hearts" was released on the small label Good guy's recording company in April 2005.

In 2007 the album was released in the Us by Fonzalo Record and in England and the rest of the world by Rykodisc. It received amazing reviews all over the world and PonyRec is extremely happy to present the new album "La Jolla".
